

Westexe railway bridge goes

Last week the railway bridge at Westexe was removed. About 10 years ago the bridge had to be raised and the road lowered to allow a new type of Devon bus to pass. There has been little trouble over the years with big loads but a vehicle carrying timber did get jammed quite recently. The driver reduced his tyre pressures to get through but the bridge was damaged.